

CAMDENTON EDUCATION FOUNDATION AWARDS

FIRST EDUCATOR SCHOLARSHIP

Congratulations to Nikki Hubbard, the first recipient of the Camdenton R-III School District Education Foundation's Educator Scholarship award of $500.

This past May, the Foundation's Board approved a new Educator Scholarship program aimed at supporting teachers' personal development and aspirations. The scholarship program is designed expressly for worthy Camdenton R-III certified teachers wishing to achieve advanced degrees in education. By initiating this program, the Foundation is continuing its quest and staying true to its motto "Steering the Course for the Future".

Mrs. Hubbard, English teacher at Camdenton High School since 2004, is obtaining her Master of Education/Instructional Design through Western Governors University, and is already revamping curriculum based on her first course of studies.

Applications for the 2013 school year can be found on the Education Foundation's link under District Info on the school district website, with the submission deadline early summer 2013. More detailed information regarding the scholarship award process is noted on the application.

The Foundation sincerely urges all District educators pursuing advanced education degrees to take advantage of this program and apply for the Foundation's financial support.
